

Southern California Development Forum Presents...

Tuesday, February 11, 2014, 7:00am-9:00am

What is Driving Growth in Higher Education?

What are some of the factors driving growth on our local University and College campuses? How are new innovations influencing approaches to old challenges? Aging buildings, net zero goals, changing delivery methods and growing student programs that require more space, more quickly: These are just a few of the opportunities facing our Higher Education campuses. Please join SCDF and our panel of distinguished leaders from LA's leading College and Universities as we discuss these issues within their approach to future growth and their capital improvement program.
